

RE-PUBLICATION OF ARTICLES

It has come to our attention that there are certain past articles or contents of our Company which have been republished in various websites and social media in Hong Kong. We must emphasize that the Hong Kong Apple Daily and Next Magazine have ceased publication in both print and digital form after 24 June 2021. All such re-publication of the Company's past articles or contents, whether or not by our former staffs or other persons/entities, have been done without the Company's prior knowledge and without its authorisation or approval. Our Company does not sanction or condone such infringing website(s) and social media(s) and disclaims all responsibility and liability associated therewith and reserves all of its rights in respect thereof.
